

Harlem Rockets vs. Leavitt & Parris Dream Team

(For Immediate Release)

South Portland, ME – November 1st, 2007

The Harlem Rockets are a group of talented basketball entertainers who combine incredible show-time basketball skills with hilarious comedy. The Rocket's will face local favorites, The Leavitt & Parris Dream Team on Sunday, December 2 at 2:00pm at the South Portland High School Gymnasium.

The Harlem Rockets incorporate the audience into the show, especially children! During halftime and after the game, the Rocket's enjoy interacting with fans and giving autographs.

This is comedy basketball, and the Harlem Rockets offer something for everyone to enjoy. Having played over 2,000 games in 14 years without a single defeat, their gags must give them a leg up on opponents. Nevertheless, sports enthusiasts will be intrigued by the Rocket's athleticism and size.

The Harlem Rockets boast not one, but two engaging and natural comedians. Everyone (except for maybe the referee) will enjoy the banter and ear-to-ear grin of Kevin "Showboat" Jackson along with the silly improvisational antics of Dwayne "Swoop" Simpson. Standing 6'6 and 6'7 respectively, these two young talents can also "lace them up" when necessary.

In addition to comedy basketball, The Harlem Rockets have always made alley-oops and slam-dunks...the exclamation points of basketball as a part of each game. In their history, the Rockets have suited up a number of phenomenal leapers including Wally Dixon of "And1's Main Event" fame, Brendon "Grasshopper" Floyd and Alexander "Skywalker" Howard. The next in this long line of gravity defying athletes is new Harlem Rocket Greg "The Finisher" Wells. While transitioning from the college game, Wells has made his presence known through numerous slam dunk competitions, competitive leagues, and street ball events. Many people will recognize "The Finisher" from his various appearances on the popular "And1 Mixtape Tour" televised on ESPN.

Members of the Leavitt & Parris Dream Team include such local celebrities as: WCSH6 Sports anchor/reporter Lee Goldberg, The Quebec Junior Hockey League's 2007 President Cup Champions Lewiston Maniacs, Director of Sales and Special Events, Marc Gosselin, Mayor of Auburn, John Jenkins, and members of The South Portland School System.
